

A VISUAL GUIDE

Creating a WISHI & the Types of WISHI

A simple, step-by-step look at how a savings committee is set up — and the different ways it can run.

HOW IT WORKS

Creating a WISHI takes just 3 steps

The organiser fills a short 3-step form. Most settings can still be edited later.

1

Basics

Name the WISHI, set how many members it has, and the amount each one pays per cycle.

2

Schedule

Choose the start date, the daily opening time, and how often a new cycle runs.

3

Rules

Decide how winners are picked each cycle and who is allowed to join the group.

Who's in it, and how much?

WISHI name

What the group is called — members see it everywhere.

Total members (2–100)

The organiser automatically holds seat #1 and invites the rest.

Contribution per cycle

The fixed amount every member pays in each cycle.

POOL PER CYCLE (CALCULATED FOR YOU)

$$10 \text{ members} \times ₹5,000 = ₹50,000$$

The WISHI then runs for as many cycles as there are members — so everyone receives the pool once. Here: 10 cycles. Cycle #1's pool is the organiser's payout, and they still contribute in every cycle like everyone else.

- ✓ Bigger group or higher contribution → bigger pool each cycle.
- ✓ The system does all the maths automatically.

When does it open, and how often?

Start date

The earliest day the WISHI can open — once all the seats are filled.

Daily opening time

The time each new cycle (and any bidding) opens every day.

Cycle frequency

How often a new cycle begins. Pick whatever suits the group:

How winners are picked & who can join

Winner selection style

Random or Hybrid — the two WISHI types, explained on the next slide.

Who picks the winner?

Automatic — the system decides (a fair draw, or the lowest bid). Manual — the organiser chooses an eligible member, and the reason is recorded.

Join rules

- ✓ Require approval — join requests wait in the organiser's queue for an OK. Recommended.
- ✓ Auto-join link — anyone with the private link joins instantly, skipping approval.

THEN...

Hit Create — the WISHI is ready. Invite members and the first cycle begins once all seats are filled.

THE TWO TYPES

Types of WISHI

Chosen at creation — it sets how each cycle's winner is decided.

Type 1

Random WISHI

Every cycle's winner is chosen by a fair, verifiable random draw. The simplest and most popular style — no bidding involved.

- ✓ Everyone has an equal chance each cycle, until it's their turn.
- ✓ The draw is recorded, so the result can't be disputed.
- ✓ Best for friends & family groups who just want it fair.

Type 2

Hybrid WISHI

A custom mix of Random cycles and Tender (bidding) cycles. The organiser sets the pattern and it repeats across the WISHI.

- ✓ Example pattern: Random → Random → Tender, then repeat.
- ✓ Some cycles are a lucky draw; others are open to bidding.
- ✓ Best when the group wants flexibility, like a traditional chit fund.

Two ways a cycle can run

Random cycle

The winner is drawn by luck from the members who haven't won yet. Quick, simple, and completely fair.

Tender (Bidding) cycle

Members bid for an early turn. Whoever is willing to take the least wins the cycle — and the amount they give up (the “discount”) is shared back with the whole group. This is the classic chit-fund auction.

WHO MAKES THE FINAL CALL?

Automatic — the system picks the winner (the random draw, or the lowest bid). • Manual — the organiser selects an eligible member themselves, and the reason is logged for transparency.

IN SHORT

Set up in 3 steps. Runs in 2 styles.
